

Dear Caroline, 16 Jun
We arrived in the Lake District yesterday after spending three days in Oxford helping my sister move out of college. The village our house is called Satterthwaite and the house itself is named Tanwood Barn. Very English.

I like it here; the house has sheep fields out front and a rose garden in the back. It's incredibly picturesque but also beautiful. From my bedroom window, I can see horses running through buttercup fields. I kid you not.

Today we visited the bustling metropolis of Hawkshead, had lunch in a tearoom, and went to multiple bookstores. The town's main claim to fame is as the residence of Beatrix Potter, author of the Peter Rabbit stories.

I know you won't get this until you come back from gov school, but I hope it finds you well and that everything is good with you.
