Art Photographs of Oxford

Dear Caroline,

Today is our last day in Oxford.
Tomorrow we wake at the crack of dawn to catch the six o'clock bus to London, whence we will fly back home. And then I will do the college applications I (still) have not completed.

I hope you had a lovely Christmas.
Ours was fairly quiet and traditional - we even had Christmas pudding, which was nasty and tasted of rum. And we had Christmas crackers with terrible puns in them. My mother gave me a stuffed Triceratops, and ~~my~~ my sister gave me the full piano SATB score to Gilbert and Sullivan's Pinafore.

After Christmas we went into town hoping to take advantage of the Boxing Day sales, but we found nothing worth spending any money on. Ah, well. Threatening to spend your parents' money is almost as much fun as actually doing so.

Have a great rest of your break! Rest, relax, have fun!
